knowledge and skills in England and Wales. Second year students are encouraged to select an option module which has a strong comparative or international law element in order to develop an understanding of legal systems other than that of England and Wales. To prepare students intending to take a year abroad at a university where tuition is not in English, there is a requirement that classes in the relevant language are taken during the first and second years.

The third year of the programme is spent as an exchange student at Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, Canada, or another participating University where students follow a programme of legal study approved by the host university and the Head of the Department of Law at Queen Mary. Students are normally allowed to take up to 30 percent of non-law courses during their year abroad, but may be allowed to take up to a maximum of 40 percent, at the discretion of the head of department at QMUL and the partner institution.

A notable feature of the Queen Mary law degree programmes is the wide range of options available, many of which are taught by leading researchers in those subjects. In the final year there is an option to do supervised research in a topic of your choosing leading to a dissertation.

Aims of the programme

The LLB Global Law programme offers intellectually able students the opportunity to study law from a variety of perspectives in a supportive environment at Queen Mary and during a year abroad. Teaching at Queen Mary is strongly underpinned by the Department's research. The programme encourages students to explore legal rules, principles, reasoning and ideas in their comparative, social, political, economic, historical, philosophical, and practical contexts. The year abroad enables students to understand a different legal system and culture.

In the final year at Queen Mary, students take a module in Jurisprudence and Legal Theory, which examines aspects of the philosophy of law. Beyond this, the programme enables students to select modules covering a wide variety of subjects to reflect their interests and aspirations. There is an opportunity to research and write a dissertation in the final year.

Outside the programme, students may choose to take part in the work of the Queen Mary Legal Advice Centre, in a student-led Pro-Bono legal advice scheme, and in mooting.

What will you be expected to achieve?

Students who successfully complete the programme will achieve obtaining a degree that will stand out compared to the three-year LLB in the sense that the degree combines the teaching curriculum of QMUL, with modules from the partner University, which may be law-related, but also outside law (in accordance with the requirements and the rules of the partner University). As a result, the degree allows students to obtain a degree with great variation of modules, from different jurisdictions and perspectives. Students thus have deeper and more holistic knowledge of different fields of law. From a cultural perspective, the exchange in a third country outside Europe is very enriching, broadening their horizons about other countries' legal cultures.

Please note that the following information is only applicable to students who commenced their Level 4 studies in 2017/18, or 2018/19

In each year of undergraduate study, students are required to study modules to the value of at least 10 credits, which align to one or more of the following themes:

- networking
- multi- and inter-disciplinarity
- international perspectives
- enterprising perspectives.

These modules will be identified through the Module Directory, and / or by your School or Institute as your studies progress.

Academic Content:
A 1	Acquire and use knowledge of concepts, values, principles and rules of legal systems, focusing on England and Wales and the European Union
A 2	Explain the main legal institutions and procedures of these legal systems
A 3	Demonstrate the study in depth and in context of substantive areas of these legal systems
A 4	Acquire and use knowledge of concepts, values, principles and rules of another legal system studied during a year abroad

Disciplinary Skills - able to:
B 1	Apply legal knowledge to a situation in order to provide arguable conclusions for concrete problems (actual or hypothetical)
B 2	Apply analytical skills to investigate unfamiliar problems
B 3	Identify and retrieve up-to-date legal information, using print and electronic primary and secondary sources
B 4	Recognise and rank items and issues in terms of relevance and importance
B 5	Bring together information and materials from a variety of different sources
B 6	Produce a synthesis of relevant doctrinal and policy issues in relation to a topic
B 7	Make a critical judgement of the merits of particular arguments
B 8	Present and make a reasoned choice between alternative solutions

Attributes:
C 1	act independently in planning and undertaking tasks in areas of law already studied
C 2	undertake independent research in areas of law not previously studied starting from standard legal information sources
C 3	Reflect on their own learning and to seek and make use of feedback
C 4	use spoken and written English effectively in relation to legal matters
C 5	present knowledge or an argument in a way which is comprehensible to others and which is directed at their concerns
C 6	read and discuss legal materials which are written in technical and complex language
C 7	where relevant and as the basis for an argument, to use, present and evaluate information provided in numerical or statistical form
C 8	work in groups as a participant who contributes effectively to the group's task
C 9	develop a strong sense of intellectual integrity
C 10	where a student has studied at another university law school at which the medium of study is a language other than English, to understand and use the relevant language proficiently in relation to legal matters

How will you learn?

At Queen Mary, teaching for the core modules is typically through lectures (to the whole year group) and tutorials (groups of about 12 students). By attending lectures you hear from experts in a legal field who will also be setting and marking your examinations. Lectures may have several different goals: to provide an introduction to a particular topic; to cast light on the context of a module; to provide alternatives to orthodox approaches; to provide an overview of the topic; to explain particularly difficult aspects of a topic; to introduce comparative aspects of a topic; to cover reform proposals and recent reforms in the law which are not covered in the textbooks.

Elective modules make use of a variety of teaching methods. Small group work often include discussion structured around questions and readings distributed in advance. Talking about law fluently is a vital part of developing legal reasoning skills. By expressing ideas you are able to refine and reflect on them. Tutorials and seminars are supportive environments in which ideas can be exchanged and difficulties can be ironed out.

A considerable amount of independent study is expected throughout the programme. This involves reading cases, legislation and academic texts. Independent study may also involve working with other students in pairs or small groups: students are encouraged to set up informal study groups to help each other get to grips with topics before or after tutorials and seminars.

All modules at Queen Mary make use of an online learning environment.

The approach to teaching during the year abroad is determined by the host university.

How will you be assessed?

All modules (core and elective) are assessed in a variety of ways, including examinations, course work or dissertation.

During the year abroad, assessment will be according to the methods of the host institution.

How is the programme structured?

Please specify the structure of the programme diets for all variants of the programme (e.g. full-time, part-time - if applicable). The description should be sufficiently detailed to fully define the structure of the diet.

Students are required to take 120 credits each year at Queen Mary. Modules are either 30 credits or 15 credits.

In year one, there are two 30-credit core modules: Public Law and Land Law and four 15 credit modules: Law in Context; European Union Law; Contract Law I and Contract Law II.

In the second year there are three 30-credit core modules: Tort Law; Equity and Trusts, and Criminal Law. In addition, students select 30-credits of elective modules.

Students who intend to spend their year abroad at a university where the English language is not the medium of study must (unless formally exempted) take and satisfactorily complete an approved course of study in the relevant language during the first two years at Queen Mary.

During the year abroad, the programme will be in accordance with the regulations of the host institution and approved by the Head of the Law Department at Queen Mary. Students may not take modules which correspond to or substantially overlap with modules previously studied at Queen Mary.

In the final year, there is one 30-credit core modules: Jurisprudence and Legal Theory, in addition students select 90-credits of elective modules. Students may not select an elective module which substantially overlaps with a module studied the host university in year 3.

What are the entry requirements?

The normal offer for admission to the LLB programme is AAA at A-level, although regard will also be paid to AS results. The following A-levels are not accepted: General Studies; Critical Thinking.

Applicants offering other qualifications will, if successful, receive offers at an equivalent level (e.g. the International Baccalaureate Diploma with 36 points overall and at least 6, 6, 6 at higher level).

Applications are welcomed from suitably qualified and motivated mature applicants (those over 21 years old). In addition to academic profile, the Department will consider skills and qualifications acquired since mature candidates were last in full-time education as well as evidence of a commitment to study law at degree level.

In terms of access and foundation students, all UCAS applications will be held until January before a shortlist is drawn upon based upon information in the UCAS form about the pre-Access/Foundation experience e.g. academic record, personal statement and academic reference. In late January/February up to thirty candidates will be shortlisted and an updated academic reference may be sought. The Access to HE entry requirements is 54 credits at level 3.

For students who wish to spend the year abroad at a host university where the language of study is not English, one of the A-levels, or equivalent qualification, must be in the relevant language. Students must have fluent language skills and be prepared to take language classes provided by the College. Students must meet the language requirements of the host institutions. Institutions which do not teach in English (as shown by an asterisk).

It may not be possible for you to go to your first choice, even if you meet the academic standards. In which case you will be advised on the alternatives available or will be able to consider transferring to the M120 programme.

If students no longer want to go away for their third year students will be able to transfer onto either M120 or M100.

How will the quality of the programme be managed and enhanced? How do we listen to and act on your feedback?

The Programme Convenor is responsible for the academic content and quality of the programme and any changes to the curriculum, in addition to ensuring the maintenance of a consistent quality of teaching across the programme.

The Law undergraduate office is responsible for the overall administrative delivery of the programme, including any issues relating to registration, complaints, pastoral care, appeals, and award for the programme.

The overall management and enhancement of the programme lies with the Department of Law's undergraduate Teaching and Learning Committee chaired by the Director of Taught Programmes.

What academic support is available?

The Staff-Student Liaison Committee provides a formal means of communication and discussion between schools/institutes and its students. The committee consists of student representatives from each year in the school/institute together with appropriate representation from staff within the school/institute. It is designed to respond to the needs of students, as well as act as a forum for discussing programme and module developments. Staff-Student Liaison Committees meet regularly throughout the year.

Each school/institute operates a Learning and Teaching Committee, or equivalent, which advises the School/Institute Director of Taught Programmes on all matters relating to the delivery of taught programmes at school level including monitoring the application of relevant QM policies and reviewing all proposals for module and programme approval and amendment before submission to Taught Programmes Board. Student views are incorporated in the committee's work in a number of ways, such as through student membership, or consideration of student surveys.

All schools/institutes operate an Annual Programme Review of their taught undergraduate and postgraduate provision. APR is a continuous process of reflection and action planning which is owned by those responsible for programme delivery; the main document of reference for this process is the Taught Programmes Action Plan (TPAP) which is the summary of the school/institute's work throughout the year to monitor academic standards and to improve the student experience. Students' views are considered in this process through analysis of the NSS and module evaluations.

How inclusive is the programme for all students, including those with disabilities?

Queen Mary has a central Disability and Dyslexia Service (DDS) that offers support for all students with disabilities, specific learning difficulties and mental health issues. The DDS supports all Queen Mary students: full-time, part-time, undergraduate, postgraduate, UK and international at all campuses and all sites.

Students can access advice, guidance and support in the following areas:

- Finding out if you have a specific learning difficulty like dyslexia
- Applying for funding through the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA)
- Arranging DSA assessments of need
- Special arrangements in examinations
- Accessing loaned equipment (e.g. digital recorders)

Programme Title: LLB Global Law

- Specialist one-to-one study skills tuition
- Ensuring access to course materials in alternative formats (e.g. Braille)
- Providing educational support workers (e.g. note-takers, readers, library assistants)
- Access to specialist mentoring support for students with mental health issues and Autistic Spectrum Disorders.

Programme-specific rules and facts

Standard bachelors programmes

Progression requirements:

The LLB Law programme complies with the Universities Academic Regulations available at <https://arcs.qmul.ac.uk/policy/>

Students must take and pass the prescribed assessments at the host university in year 3. The assessments are a requirement for progression and do not normally contribute to the classification of the award at the end of year 4. Assessments are subject to resit rules of the partner university. Students who fail to take and pass the prescribed assessments must transfer to the final year of the M100 LLB degree programme.

A specified sub-set of modules are designated as foundations of legal knowledge for professional accreditation as a qualifying law degree (QLD) by the Bar Standards Board of England and Wales (BSB). To achieve this accreditation, a student must meet the standard requirements for award, and either:

- pass all of the designated modules; or,
- pass all but one of those modules and, in the remaining failed module, achieve a module mark of 35.0 or higher

Standard bachelors programmes academic regulations and progression apply <https://arcs.qmul.ac.uk/media/arcs/policyzone/academic/Academic-Regulations-2022-23.pdf>

This programme covers the 7 foundations of legal knowledge as prescribed by the Bar Standards Board and successful completion of this programme, including passing all 7 of the prescribed modules, should satisfy the academic element of training necessary as part of entry to the Bar. The Bar has additional requirements such as vocational experience which are not included in this programme. The 7 modules are listed below. This programme also provides a sound educational basis for students wishing to further their training and take the Solicitors Qualifying Exam by the Solicitors Regulation Authority.

A sub-set of modules are designated as foundations of legal knowledge for professional accreditation as a qualifying law degree.

The designated modules are as follows:

- Obligations I (Contract): satisfied by taking and passing LAW4104 Elements of Contract Law at QMUL
- Obligations II (Tort): satisfied by taking and passing LAW5001 Tort Law at QMUL
- Criminal Law: satisfied by taking and passing LAW5005 Criminal Law at QMUL
- Equity and the Law of Trusts: satisfied by taking and passing LAW6056 Equity and Trusts (Level 6) at QMUL
- Law of the European Union: satisfied by taking and passing LAW4001 Public Law and the 15-credit module LAW5105 Law of the EU at QMUL
- Property Law (Land Law): satisfied by taking and passing LAW4006 Land Law at QMUL
- Public Law (Constitutional and Administrative Law): satisfied by taking and passing LAW4001 Public Law

Links with employers, placement opportunities and transferable skills

When you arrive, you will meet the School of Law's dedicated Careers Adviser, part of the Queen Mary Careers Team, who is regularly available in the department for one-to-one support. The Law Adviser also manages Careers Brief, the School's careers website, and arranges employer workshops in areas such as commercial awareness, applications, interview skills and choosing the right LPC and BPTC provider.

The Legal Advice Centre provides undergraduate law students with the opportunity to place law into a practical legal context under the supervision of volunteer lawyers. Lawyers from Allen & Overy, Field Fisher Waterhouse Mishcon de Reya, Nabas Legal and Reed Smith work closely with students, providing guidance and supervision, as well as training and careers advice.

Programme Title: LLB Global Law

The Queen Mary Student Pro Bono Group (QMSPBG) is a student group created by students for students. More than 250 students are involved in the QMSPBG from their first year through to their final year at Queen Mary. As students develop their skills and legal knowledge, they are able to become involved in increasingly challenging and hands-on projects. The Queen Mary Student Pro Bono Group has well-developed links with the London legal community. Students have the opportunity to volunteer at organisations that provide pro bono legal advice and to 'shadow' solicitors. Placement programmes operate through partnerships with leading law firms such as Berwin Leighton Paisner LLP, SNR Denton, Clifford Chance and Reed Smith LLP. Queen Mary runs a Streetlaw Programme, which is based on a US model to provide an outreach volunteer programme to local schools and communities. Students visit primary and secondary schools to teach pupils relevant parts of the law. The Group also offers exciting opportunities in international law, in the past students have worked with organisations such as A4ID and Lawyers Without Borders.

The Pro Bono Group publishes a monthly student newspaper called 'The Advocate', which includes articles from Queen Mary academics and students as well as external lawyers.

The Queen Mary Mooting Society plays an active part of undergraduate life at Queen Mary. Under the auspices of the Student Moot Master and Student Mooting Committee, students have the opportunity to become involved in both internal and external mooting competitions.
